WASHED ASHORE

The Tulsa Zoo presents Washed Ashore: Art to Save the Sea, June 21, 2019, through January 5, 2020. Made entirely of plastic debris collected from beaches, Washed Ashore sculptures unmask the impacts of plastic pollution in oceans, waterways and wildlife. This exhibit is free with regular zoo admission.

WHERE IS MY FAVORITE ANIMAL?

Our animals always have access to their dens and off-exhibit spaces during inclement weather. This includes extreme heat or cold, so they may not always be visible.

SPECIES SURVIVAL PLAN® oversees population management of select species within Association of Zoos & Aquariums accredited institutions and enhances conservation in the wild.

Each program coordinates a variety of activities, including species conservation, research, husbandry, management, and educational initiative activities, among member institutions.
